Knox County Awards Black Creek Project to Add Video Court Building to Security Control System

AERIAL VIEW: KNOX COUNTY WILSON DETENTION CENTER ("PENAL FARM")

Birmingham, AL – September 7, 2021 – Black Creek has been awarded a project to add a new Video Court Building to the existing Black Creek Super Display® Touchscreen Security System security control system installed at the Knox County Roger D. Wilson Detention Center (aka, the Penal Farm). The Detention Center, located in Knoxville, TN, is a 964-bed medium security facility operated by the Knox Co. Sheriff's Office. Black Creek has worked with Knox County since 1994 when the Wilson Detention Center was first built. Since then, Knox Co. has also implemented a Black Creek security control system at the Downtown Jail/Intake Center.

Under the current project, the County is adding a new prefabricated Video Court Building to the detention complex, adjacent to the existing Building 6. Black Creek will incorporate control and/or monitoring of select doors/gates and video cameras in this new building into the existing Black Creek touchscreen security control system installed at the Detention Center complex. To accomplish this, Black Creek will add new programmable logic controllers, relays, and Gigabit Ethernet switches to the existing headend equipment; the existing server computers, control stations, etc. will be reused. Programming services will incorporate the new devices.

Black Creek will also provide a new standalone Bosch CCTV video management system to manage and record video from designated cameras in the new Video Court Building.
